We need page for ESTATE PLANNING as follows:

Do you have an Estate Plan? If not, you probably need one. An Estate Plan protects and provides for you and your family while you are alive and after you pass away.

In life, an Estate Plan allows you to plan for such unfortunate events as your disability or incompetence. It allows those you trust to take care of you and your family. You cannot allow anyone else, such as a court, to make these decisions. These decisions include all decisions about your health and finances.

After you pass away, your Estate Plan is critically important. Your Estate Plan sets forth who receives your property and how they receive it. Without an Estate Plan, this is not the case. Your property may pass to those you do not desire or it does not pass to those you desire in a manner you do not desire. Further, your estate may be controlled by someone you do not trust. You need an Estate Plan to avoid this. Because you have a unique situation, your Estate Plan must be designed specifically for you. Gene will develop an Estate Plan that is tailored to your individual need.

Again, An Estate Plan protects you and your family during your life and after you pass away. It does so in the manner that you desire. Further, it does so in a manner that minimizes excessive delays, attorney fees, grief and anxiety.
